

Балкански дичак (фото Снежана Вукојичић)

Barbarea (Barbarea), ??? ??????????? ? ?????????????,

Barbarea (Barbarea) is a genus of plants in the family Brassicaceae = Cruciferae. It is a perennial herb with a thick, branched root system. The leaves are green, pinnately lobed, and grow in a basal rosette. The flowers are yellow and arranged in dense, terminal racemes. The fruit is a silicle, which is a flattened, elongated seed pod. Barbarea is found in mountainous regions of the Balkans, particularly in the Dinaric Alps. It is a common plant in the Balkan region, particularly in the Dinaric Alps. It is a common plant in the Balkan region, particularly in the Dinaric Alps. It is a common plant in the Balkan region, particularly in the Dinaric Alps.

Barbarea (Barbarea) is a genus of plants in the family Brassicaceae = Cruciferae. It is a perennial herb with a thick, branched root system. The leaves are green, pinnately lobed, and grow in a basal rosette. The flowers are yellow and arranged in dense, terminal racemes. The fruit is a silicle, which is a flattened, elongated seed pod. Barbarea is found in mountainous regions of the Balkans, particularly in the Dinaric Alps. It is a common plant in the Balkan region, particularly in the Dinaric Alps. It is a common plant in the Balkan region, particularly in the Dinaric Alps.

Barbarea (Barbarea) is a genus of plants in the family Brassicaceae = Cruciferae.

*Barbarea (Barbarea) is a genus of plants in the family Brassicaceae = Cruciferae. (2021)

Barbarea (Barbarea) #2

Barbarea (Barbarea) 19 januar 2024 09:21:44 o? Admin

Barbarea (Barbarea) 11 oktobar 2024 08:08:05 ?? ??????????? ????????