

A photograph of a small, old stone church with a red-tiled roof and a small steeple. The church is surrounded by trees and grass. The church has a simple rectangular body with a gabled roof covered in reddish-brown tiles. A small, square bell tower with a conical roof and a small spire is attached to the left side. The walls are made of light-colored stone or plaster, showing signs of age and weathering, with some areas of peeling plaster revealing the underlying masonry. There is a single arched window on the front facade and a smaller, similar window in the bell tower. The church is situated on a grassy hill, with a large, dark evergreen tree to the left and other trees in the background under a clear blue sky.
