

This is a medieval manuscript illumination, likely from a Russian or Ukrainian manuscript, depicting a royal family. The central figures are a king and a queen, both wearing red and gold robes. The king holds a scepter and a small building, while the queen holds a mirror. They are flanked by two other figures, possibly saints or nobles. A small child stands before the king. The background is dark blue with gold leaf and a small inset image of a saint. The text is in Old Church Slavonic.
